

GeekSoc

Terms of Service

All GeekSoc users shall abide by the normal conditions of use applicable to members of the University of Strathclyde; these cover University and Janet requirements and can be found at or through <http://www.strath.ac.uk/it/doc/policy/>.

- I understand that the aim of geeksoc is to further understanding, knowledge and awareness of technical fields related to computing among its members.
- Neither the University of Strathclyde, GeekSoc nor any of its staff or members accept any liability in respect of any loss alleged to have been caused either by defect of equipment or software or by the act or neglect of those bodies or staff or GeekSoc members.
- I agree to comply with the University of Strathclyde computing regulations as they apply to my use of GeekSoc facilities.
- I will not attempt to access any systems I am not authorized to use from the GeekSoc domain nor will I use any resources of the GeekSoc domain to gain such unauthorised access elsewhere.
- I will not use any GeekSoc resources for illegal, criminal or copyright infringement purposes.
- I will not use any GeekSoc resources for commercial gain.
- I will not use any GeekSoc resources for political or other campaigning.
- I will not run any unauthorised services on GeekSoc machines.
- I will not attempt to circumvent any security measures.
- I will report any possible security holes I find to the GeekSoc admins.
- I realize that I am responsible for all activities that take place on my assigned GeekSoc account. I will NOT give another person my password or other access to my account.
- I will cease any given activity I am engaged in upon request by representatives of GeekSoc (i.e., if a particular use is deemed inappropriate you will quit).
- I will inform GeekSoc of any changes to the above information.
- I understand that GeekSoc may have to impose publishing restrictions on services such as WWW pages, and email - and agree to comply with these restrictions if I am involved with publishing from GeekSoc.
- I agree that GeekSoc may change the conditions of usage at any time.
